Fair Enough WESTBROOK PEGLER

In Washington, custom forbids officers of armed forces to be seen in public in uniform, except in time of shooting war or in time of cocktails or other ceremonial banality, the idea being that the statesmen on the hill might take fright or umbrage at the sight of so many clanking warriors and cut off all military appropriations to prevent a putsch. The wisdom of this pathetic decree has been debated informally in the services, with only a few officers holding that a soldier should wear the habit of his trade in peace as well as in war.

Most of them prefer multi for several personal reasons which apply not only in the capital but everywhere else. One is that the officer in uniform has no privacy in public, but may be badgered by any bore who has a cousin serving at Fort Snelling and regards that fact as a bond of interest with a professional man of arms who is weary of talking shop and only wants to read a detective story or look out the train window. Another is the idiotic, useless, expensive and uncomfortable affectation known as the Sam Brown belt, adopted from the British in the first World War and never abandoned by our army, lest a decision so to do wound the feelings of General John J. Pershing.

As long as the old gentleman lives, and presumably for a respectful interval after he is laid away in Arlington, officers of another generation will have to wear this heavy harness which serves no purpose but to torture the man inside it and needlessly consume so many thousand units of leather and brass which might be put to better use. But I find myself straying again from the theme of my piece, a symptom of geniality which occurs more often these days and which I trust you will remind me of, but kindly, please.

My thought for the day is that if it is possible that congress would be impressed by the very number of officers on desk duty in Washington were they to go in uniform, it would be a very wise idea to insist that all government press agents, regardless of their official classification or guise, be required to wear some distinctive garb to identify them to the states-

BRITAIN OPENS HUGE CAMPAIGN OF PROPAGANDA

Makes Much Of Meeting
Between Churchill
And Roosevelt

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Britain launched a mighty propaganda campaign today to tell Europe's millions of the historic meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and their joint declaration of principles for establishing a lasting peace "after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

The pledge that the two English-speaking nations were not seeking territorial gains and the declaration they desired "no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely-expressed wishes of the peoples concerned" were considered prime propaganda points here.

To spread word across Europe, Minister of Information Brendan Bracken prepared a campaign to be carried on by radio, broadcast, pamphlets, dropped from British and Russian planes, and underground channels.

The Daily Herald, which called the declaration "a matchless weapon of propaganda," declared that "boldly and skillfully used it will contribute immensely to winning the war."

The first gun in the campaign was fired by the British Broadcasting corporation, which broadcast the Roosevelt-Churchill announcement 80 times in 40 languages within 12 hours.

By Sunday afternoon the BBC expected to have made 300 broadcasts of the text or summaries of the statement.

In general, British reaction seemed to be that the declaration was as important because of what was left unsaid as because of what was said. It was taken for granted Roosevelt and Churchill discussed many things concerning British-American collaboration which did not appear in their statement and that the axis powers would be kept guessing—just as they have kept the rest of the world guessing after meetings between Hitler and Mussolini.

MORE NAVAL RESERVE OFFICERS SOUGHT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15.—(P)—Captain T. A. Thomson, Jr., acting commander of the eighth naval district here, announced today ranks of the naval reserve had been opened to 1,250 additional officers. "Various reserve commissions are available to highly-trained men in specialties of civil life, particularly in medical and engineering branches," he said. "Ranks for which individuals may apply are determined by their age and experience."

Secretary Knox of the navy set the new quota in view of a "record-breaking response of men in Southern states to serve in the United States naval forces during the present emergency," Captain Thomson said.

Joint Military Action To Thwart Nation's Ambitions Predicted

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Britain's position in the battle of the Atlantic is "very much better" than in the early summer because of widening operations against German submarines and "most valuable" United States assistance, authoritative sources declared today.

Although the scale of attacks has remained about the same and, in fact, has increased in some areas, these sources said British aircraft and surface units have "done very well in recent weeks" in the struggle to retain mastery of the sea lanes.

The axis, simultaneously, has "suffered very heavily" in the Mediterranean, they added, with the British there reversing the Atlantic situation and attacking German and Italian convoys successfully with light forces.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Secretary of State Hull expressed the hope and expectation today that all nations—except those he declared were avowedly on a mission of destruction—would support the 2-point declaration of principles by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

This was his comment in response to a press conference question as to whether the United States would welcome an endorsement of the declaration by Soviet Russia.

He indicated there might be some announcement soon concerning Russia, possibly envisaging a 3-power meeting of American, British and Russian experts on the war needs of the Soviet Union.

(By Associated Press) Diplomats in the capitals of the world indicated general belief today that the unprecedented sea meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill would produce far more startling developments than their joint declaration of peace aims.

British sources likened the meeting to the conferences between Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini which have kept the world guessing, and expressed confidence that far-reaching decisions had been made which would be disclosed only at the right moment.

Washington, too, was pervaded by a feeling that parallel British-American action of a decisive nature was in the offing to implement the policies enunciated in the Roosevelt-Churchill statement.

Tokyo reflected a similar belief and some quarters there asserted that a plan of joint military action against Japan to thwart her ambitions for establishing an Asiatic "co-prosperity" (Continued on Fifth Page)

DOLLAR DAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

Buyers From Many Cities
And Towns Participate;
Prizes Given

Dollar Day was observed in the Twin Cities Friday with enthusiastic shoppers from many cities and towns taking advantage of bargains offered by stores of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the day.

David C. Silverstein, chairman, who with a special committee had charge of the arrangements, declared that he was well suited with the outcome and that both merchants and still better, the general public, seemed well pleased with the offerings that were secured at lowest possible prices.

The finale of the day will be a public drawing for prizes. The street immediately east of the Ouachita National Bank building will be roped off and at 6 p.m. Friday a drawing will take place. The prizes are worth many hundreds of dollars and all have an equal chance to obtain these awards through tickets that were given for all purchases made at stores during the day.

BRITAIN EXECUTES GERMAN NATIONAL

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Josef Jakob, described as a German national, was executed today following his conviction as a spy.

Jakob, who was born in 1898 in Luxembourg, was shot at the Old Bailey.

A war office statement said he was a non-commissioned officer in the German army attached to the meteorological service and had been arrested shortly after he landed by parachute in the vicinity of London.

SPECIAL TANK FUND APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Part Of Amount Eliminated By Senate Group Is Restored

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Informed by Secretary of War Stimson that the manufacture of additional tanks and other ordnance was of "extreme importance to the security of the country," a joint Senate-House committee agreed today to provide a special fund of $750,000,000 for this purpose.

Senator Adams, Democrat, Colorado, said the conference group agreed to restore that much of a $1,347,000,000 fund, previously approved by the House, but eliminated when the Senate passed a $6,838,436,000 supplemental defense bill yesterday.

The conferees agreed, Adams said, to eliminate from the bill a $1,000,000 fund for the establishment of a special civilian police force to guard navy establishments. They cut to $800,000 a $1,440,000 appropriation for ship facilities at New Orleans and reduced to $800,000 a $1,000,000 appropriation for a naval warehouse at Norfolk, Va.

Adams said the conferees also agreed to limit to $2,500,000, instead of the $4,000,000 previously approved by the Senate, "confidential" emergency expenditures for which President Roosevelt would not have to account to congress.

Stimson's views were made known in a letter to Chairman Glass, Democrat, Virginia, of the committee. The only hint as to the possible use of the special authority was the statement by Democratic leaders that the money probably would be spent for (Continued on Fifth Page)

DRAFT AGE BILL BEFORE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, floor manager in his chamber for the congressionally approved service extension legislation, said today that a substantial number of men might be released from the army before serving the 18 additional months provided under the measure.

Unless the chief executive signs or vetoes the measure by next Monday, it will become law without his signature.

The bill, which was sent to the White House on August 6, would make mandatory the deferment from selective service of men who were 28 years old on last July 1, 1941, and had not been inducted, or who each age 28 on any subsequent July 1 without being inducted.

It also would empower the secretary of war to release from the army service of men who were 28 years old on last July 1, 1941, and before their induction. Such releases could be made "as soon as practicable and when not in conflict with the interests of the national defense."

Death Threat Hung On Occupied France

Germany Challenges Britain And United States To 'Come And Get Our Arms' In Any Disarmament Plan; Launches New Drive

(By Associated Press) Germany clamped down with death-threat restrictions over occupied France today, challenged Britain and the United States to "come and get our arms" in any disarmament plan, and launched a fourth great offensive in the 55-day-old war with Russia.

In bitter comment on the historic sea meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, the Germans termed it "a 100 per cent flop" and gave this answer to the Anglo-American proposal for disarmament of aggressor nations after the war:

"If the so-called democracies want Germany disarmed, let them come and get our arms."

Dispatches from Vichy said German authorities bluntly warned the entire population of the Nazi-occupied part of France that it would be held responsible as a whole for outbreaks of street-fighting such as flared in Paris last week. General Heinrich von Stuepnagel, commanding the Nazi armed forces in France, ordered the death penalty for persons supporting Communist activity "in any manner whatsoever."

Adolf Hitler's fourth big offensive against the U. S. S. R. struck furiously at Leningrad from three directions.

Dispatches from Helsinki said that the drive was smashing through powerful Soviet defenses on the Karelian isthmus, north of Leningrad, and that the Red army was in retreat.

CLYDE S. BROWN KILLED BY AUTO

Well Known Former Monroe Resident Is Victim Of Accident

Clyde S. Brown, former Monroe resident and operator of a chain of funeral homes, was instantly killed in an automobile accident near New Orleans early Friday. Details of the accident were not given in the brief message received.

Mr. Brown, after moving from Monroe, had made his home in Bogalusa, La., for the past several years. He was connected with the Dixie Cooperative Insurance company, serving as its president, and also owned and operated funeral homes in Bogalusa, Kentwood, Amite and Independence.

During his residence in Monroe he owned and operated the Monroe Casket factory and other enterprises, and was widely known and regarded as a highly successful business man.

Funeral arrangements were not known in Monroe Friday, but it was said that the services and interment will take place in Bogalusa.

Mr. Brown was a World War veteran. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ila Venable Brown, and a daughter, Doris Anne Brown. H. M. Venable, for some years secretary of the Standard Office Supply company in Monroe, is a brother-in-law, Mrs. Brown being his sister.

AUTO WORKERS BAR 3 'ISMS' FROM OFFICE

Communists, Nazis And Fascists Ineligible For Executive Places

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(P)—Communists, Nazi and Fascist members and sympathizers are barred by the C. I. O.-U. A. W. from holding any elective or appointive office in the union.

Delegates to the sixth national convention of the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement workers voted two to one last night in favor of the action, which received the support of C. I. O.-U. A. W. President R. J. Thomas and other union executives.

An unofficial tabulation of a roll call vote on the resolution showed 1,950 favoring adoption and 920 opposed.

Submitted by Harvey Kitzman of Racine, Wis., the resolution, a super-minority report of the constitution committee, read:

"No member of any local union shall be eligible to hold any elective or appointive position in this international union or any local union in this international union if he is a member of or subservient to any political organization such as the Communist, Nazi or Fascist organizations."

Majority and regular minority reports—the latter from a lesser group than the super-minority—also were submitted.

The roll call vote was ordered by Thomas after delegates, unsatisfied with a standing vote favoring report, charged the union president was "railroading" the recommendation through the convention. Thomas denied this.

The majority report, submitted by Committee Chairman Victor Reuther of Detroit, was similar to the one adopted, but more detailed.

The minority amendment was read by James Lindahl, Detroit, and in addition to disapproving Communist

FREE FRENCH CHIEF NAMED FOR AFRICA

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Aug. 15.—(P)—General Charles de Gaulle issued a decree today appointing General Paul Le Gentilhomme commander-in-chief of Free French forces in Africa.

The general commanded allied forces in French and British Somaliland until the fall of France. He joined the Free French movement last November. He was stripped of French citizenship by the Vichy government in December.

GERMANS SCORN ROOSEVELT AND CHURCHILL MEET

Characterize Conference At Sea As '100 Per Cent Flop'

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—(P)—The meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was characterized today by authorized German sources as "a 100 per cent flop."

The meeting, these sources claimed, gave Germany "the most favorable diplomatic position possible."

"The president of the United States and the British prime minister are in a bad situation," they said. "Ever since Sumner Welles formulated ideas concerning a new postwar order, including a new League of Nations, and British Foreign Secretary Eden replied with a demand for one authoritative power to police Europe, we have noticed a discrepancy between the aims of the two countries, but we didn't dream the divergence was so great as has now been revealed."

These sources remarked that it was significant the British kept emphasizing that it was President Roosevelt who took the initiative for the meeting.

"It is an old accepted fact that when the battle is won every body claims the credit, but when it is lost one looks for a goat. It would be undignified ever to discuss the Roosevelt-Churchill eight points. We know but one offensive and that is military. We have but one aim and that is the (Continued on Fifth Page)

BRITISH SUPPLY COUNCIL CHIEF IS AMONG DEAD

Crash Follows Almost Identical Plane Ferry Accident Sunday

ALL ABOARD PERISH

Captain Mackey, Survivor Of One Big Crash, Is One Of Victims

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Twelve American fliers enlisted in the transatlantic bomber ferry service were killed yesterday in a take-off crash in which 22 persons in all died, including the Right Honorable Arthur Purvis, chairman of the British supply council in North America.

The crash, announced by the R. A. F. ferry command today, followed an almost identical ferry service accident Sunday in which another 22 were killed, making the week's toll 44 lives, including those of 19 Americans.

Not a man escaped yesterday's accident. The big plane, which was taking the Americans back to America in a group so that they could fly more new bombers back to Britain, burst into flames immediately on crashing.

Among the American victims was Captain Joseph Creighton Mackey, 31, of Kansas City, who was the lone survivor of a crash in Newfoundland last February in which Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, and two others were killed.

The dead included nine Canadians, among them Purvis, and one Englishman. Eleven of the Americans were pilots, and one was a radio operator. Seven of the Canadians were radio operators, one was a pilot.

The victims were listed as follows: Captain J. C. Mackey, Kansas City, Captain A. C. Earl, Huntingdon, W. Va., Captain M. D. Dilley, Kansas City, Captain E. B. Anding, Merrick, N. Y., Captain J. J. Harwin, Oakland, Calif., Captain M. J. Wetzel, Jamesburg, N. J., Captain Gerald Hull, Royal Oak, Mich., Captain E. Hamel, Braintree, Mass., Captain P. F. Lee, Jr., Frederick, Md., Flying Officer W. L. Trimble, Fort Worth, Tex., Flying Officer E. W. Watson, Torrance, Calif., Flight Engineer R. F. Davis, Seattle, Wash., Right Honorable Arthur P. Purvis, Montreal, Captain J. J. Moffatt, Toronto, Radio Operator R. Coates, Yarmouth, N. S., Radio Operator W. F. J. Goddard, Toronto, Radio Operator R. A. Duncan, Port Arthur, Ont., Radio Operator A. Tamblin, Port Arthur, Ont., Radio Operator D. N. Hamant, Victoria, B. C., Radio Operator J. P. Culbert, Montreal, Berks, Eng., Radio Operator J. J. MacDonald, Longueuil, Que., Officer Watson was the only man taken out of the plane alive, and he died in a hospital during the night.

The 22 were killed in a take-off accident, the second such accident to befall the ferry command within a week. Seven American officers died in the other crash, which occurred Sunday, making a total of 19 Americans to die in this phase of the war effort.

The Sunday crash took a total toll of 22 lives also. It occurred just a few minutes before British Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook took off in another craft to fly to the sea rendezvous between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The fliers killed were ferry pilots who fly new planes to England from (Continued on Fifth Page)

SIX MEN DIE IN FALL OF ROCK

Seventh Rescued After Five Hours Under Mass Of Stones

SEATTLE, Aug. 15.—(P)—A falling 35-foot wall of rock, loosed by a premature explosion, resulted in the deaths of six workmen at a quarry for the big United States naval air base on Japonski Island in Sitka harbor.

A seventh man, H. W. Hagadorn of Tacoma, Wash., was rescued after he had lain helpless for five hours under a mass of rocks. He suffered only slight head injuries and bruises.

The slide occurred yesterday noon. Three bodies have been recovered, those of Ralph J. McClure, Seattle; Commodore Dewey Strode, son of Mrs. L. A. Strode of Camas, Wash.; and Ralph Carlson, son of Mrs. E. Folk, Kingston, Idaho.

The other victims were: E. A. Burkley, C. R. Best and E. R. Rosser, the latter believed to be of Seattle.

All were employees of the Sierra-Drake Construction company, builder of the multi-million dollar base.

The deaths were the first listed for the company in the work on three major naval bases in Alaska.

The construction company declined to release any information on the tragic accident, referring inquiries to the navy. The navy gave only meager details.

Other reports were that eight other men were caught in the slide, but escaped, after a jackhammer struck a hidden dynamite charge.

The island on which the air base and quarry are situated is about 200 yards off shore from the town of Sitka, in the island and mountain framed harbor. Sitka is on the Pacific ocean side of Baranof Island, about 100 miles southwest of Juneau. It has been a booming center of defense activity.

The island was named Japonski (Japanese) by the Russians because a Japanese junk went ashore on the coast in 1805 and the rescued sailors lived for a time on the island.

HOUSEWIFE MAY GROW OWN SILK

Hospital Inmate Says Taking Thread From Cocoon Is Easy

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(P)—The housewife who is panicky over the silk shortage can learn to make her own silk thread, just as her great grandmother spun woolen yarn.

It's a ticklish job but William Vandrasek, who grew silk worms as a boy, says it can be done and has a large ball of silk in his hospital room to back him up.

He has taught his nurses the knack of finding the end of the cocoon thread, one of the most intricate processes. "I showed some of them," he said, "and the third time they could find it alone."

Rescuing from an illness, the 64-year-old tailor bought 400 silk worm eggs in May, hatched them in egg cartons and fed them on mulberry leaves from the hospital yard.

Within 32 days the worms had spun their cocoons, and he began unwinding their natural, yellowish threads upon a reel—enough silk, he estimated, to make three pairs of hosiery. But knitting is not in his field.

Vandrasek began handling silk worms in Austria-Hungary when he was 9 years old. It was a hobby with his mother, who taught him the delicate process of loosening the cocoon thread and unraveling it.

Now he finds the end of the cocoon thread from touch. "It's easy," he insisted.

He could put all the crippled patients to work, he suggested, if the hospital would give him more room and buy some more eggs.

3 DRILLING RIGS HALTED BY STRIKES
SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 15.—(P)—Three drilling rigs of the Sullata Drilling company, two in Arkansas and one in Louisiana, are reported to have been shut down as the result of a strike of employees who are reported to be members of the Oil Workers International Union, a C. I. O. affiliate. The strike affects about 50 men, it is reported.

The rigs are located in the Dorchester LaSalle parish area. N. H. Wheelers, president of the Sullata, said that the union had made "a lot of stringent demands, one of which was asking for a closed shop which was made a 'must' demand, which was declined."

The other issues involved were not discussed. Following the refusal of the company to agree to a closed shop, which would have required all employees other than drilling crews of the company to be members of the union, a strike was called, it was stated.

ASKS TREATING OF REJECTEES

McNutt Proposes To Make Many More Suitable For Army Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(P)—Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, recommended today that medical treatment be provided at government expense for selective service registrants rejected for army service.

The attempted physical rehabilitation would be limited to those who requested it and whose defects could be corrected with relatively little treatment.

If such a voluntary program is unsuccessful, McNutt said, it might be necessary to lower physical standards of eligibility for selective service and undertake compulsory physical rehabilitation after induction into the army.

Steps are being taken already to seek a congressional appropriation of undetermined size to finance the program.

It was proposed by a seven-member commission named by McNutt which reported that indications are that more than 40 per cent of examined men are being classified as unfit for general military services.

McNutt said that the high proportion of registrants rejected was "rather alarming."

"The inevitable conclusion is that our reservoir of qualified man power is disappointing," he said.

"While this program is directed primarily toward making more men available for military service it has far greater implications on the future public health of the country, particularly in relation to the opportunities for the replacement of these registrants into civilian pursuits after the emergency is over."

Defects which the program is designed to correct, officials said, are primarily those of the teeth, eyes, ear, nose and throat, and venereal diseases.

One official survey is reported to have disclosed that about nine per cent of the selectees rejected have been turned down because of their teeth. It was estimated that about 90 per cent of these cases could be corrected.

About half of the eye defects could be corrected, officials estimated. Numerous rejections have been caused by nervous and mental ills and heart conditions, they said, but a "very small percentage" of such cases would be subjects for rehabilitation.

Children's Parties Occur Frequently

Monroe's Youngest Set Has A Widely Varied Social Life All Its Own

Although summer is everybody's playtime, it seems to belong especially to the youngsters who, freed from school for three months, are active every minute of every day. As the summer draws to a close, and school looms on the near horizon, they redouble their feverish attempts to cram each day with fun.

And they, too, do not lack for planned social affairs. The child born during vacation months is lucky, for few summer birthdays pass uncele-brated by a party of some sort. Other parties have out-of-town honor guests, and every little visitor is considered as apt reason for celebration as are older ones.

Swimming parties, barbecues, picture show parties, and picnics are all popular forms of entertainment among the children, although none of these will ever displace the traditional "ice cream cake prizes" party.

Such a party was that which celebrated the 6th birthday of little Evy Lee Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ritter. Evy Lee, wearing a long frock of white net, and her sister, Monica Ann, wearing blue organza, welcomed guests.

The afternoon was spent in those games and contests which are synonymous with a child's birthday party. Prize-winners were Miss Mary Ann Hixon and Master Mike Ritter.

Children present were: Nancy Rogers, Joe Ann and Zela Kay Cotton, Betty and Mary Hixon, Mike Ritter, Peggy Prantom, Bertie Evelyn Mahoney, Jerry Ann Freeman, Connie Pickering, Jackie, Jewel Diana, Bobby, and Tommy DuBos, Debby Ann Hill, Barbara Ann Schroeder, Katherine Juanita and Marion Louise Guerrero, Sonny and Sandra Meeks, Marjette Spatofora, Bessie Talley, Caroline and Donald Spatofora, Mary Joe Sullivan, Tommy Anthony, and Barbara Ann Bradley.

Several mothers also called during the afternoon, including Mesdames W. A. Cotton, Connie Pickering, Bert Mahoney, Thomas Spatofora, Etta Meeks, Nick Mirza, Clarence DuBos, Sr., and Frank Anthony.

Bernstein park echoed with screams of delight when Mrs. Jack Morrison invited a group of playmates of her small daughter, Eulajia, to join in wishing her a happy 8th birthday. Novelty whistling balloons marked each child's place when refreshments of ice cream, cake, and pop corn were served. Mrs. B. H. Dyer, Mrs. Lee Overton, Mrs. J. L. Adams, and Miss Mary Margaret Curry assisted Mrs. Morrison in directing games.

Those who helped celebrate Eulajia's birthday were: Betty and Janice Dyer, Joyce Frost, Jenn Hall, Iris Wood, Jeanette Simmons, Rose, Mary Bronston, Bonita Waldon, Joyce Raspberry, Maxine Warner, Marnie Lee Broadway, Laura Lee Overton, Roberta Goza, Connie Murphy, Patricia Black, Betty Patterson, and Mary Margaret Curry.

Novelty cakes with the numeral "12" and "Betsy Ann" embossed upon them added a novelty note to the party which Mrs. Frederick Green gave for her daughter, Betsy Ann, on her 12th birthday.

Refreshments of molded ice cream and individual cakes, were served at Mrs. Green's home following a picture show party.

Neither did the 4th birthday of little Billie Virginia Beeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Beeson, go uncelebrated. Mrs. Beeson, assisted by Miss Fay Beeson and Miss Helen Decamp of Alexandria, La., served punch and cake on the festive occasion to: Sarah Mae and Frank Hyle, Patsy and Shirley Averett, Gayle Gillard, John Wesley Moore, Billy King, Elizabeth Byrd, and Barbara Byrd, Evelyn Hale, Charles Hobbs, Ronnie Coge, Ronald Hobbs, Heloise Hobbs, Henry Harley, Jimmy Hobbs, Miss Rabbit King, and Mesdames Dewitt Hogan, R. G. Hale, Billy King, Johnnie Moore, Henry Gillard, and Walter Hobbs.

Friends in Monroe will be interested in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Martin of Birmingham, Ala., of the birth of their first child, a girl, at the Jefferson hospital on August 4. The baby has been named Nancy Martin. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McKinney of West Monroe, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Martin of Glen Rock, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin moved from Monroe last month to Birmingham where Mr. Martin is serving as a reserve officer in the army.

Miss Roberta Adams left Monroe recently for a trip through the southwestern states. Marked on her itinerary are excursions to Mexico and Caribbean.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Casper, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Carroll and daughter, Miss Flossie Carroll, and Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Carroll and son of Columbia will leave this week for a vacation which will be spent in a summer cottage on the Gulf coast near Biloxi, Miss.

Miss Mittie Lacey is spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. Glo Faulk, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison and daughter, Eulajia, returned from Eastport, where they were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Givens.

Pattern

TWO-WAY FROCK

You will always be pleased with this style—made up in silk, wool or rayon crepes as a street and travel dress—or in washable cottons as a frock for practical household wear. The simple button front closing is well balanced with the front detailing which gives the long waistline effect. A few gathers are easily adjusted below the shoulders so that there is proper fullness through the bosom. The notched collar is effective in self material or contrast and gives the dress an air of tailored smartness.

Pattern No. 8836 is designed in sizes 34 to 48. Size 36, short sleeves, takes 5-1/2 yards 36-inch material, 5-8 yard contrast.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to Monroe News-Star—World Today's Pattern Service, 100 Seventh Avenue, New York, N. Y.

MERIDIAN PEOPLE PRAY FOR PEACE

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Promptly at noon a wailing siren halts all activities, even court trials, in this city of 35,000 as citizens of all faiths pray for peace.

Clint Vinson, who proclaimed the prayer period, said he has received letters and other communications from all parts of the country indicating that men and women elsewhere are praying for peace.

"I have always said my prayer earlier in the day for my boy in the training camp, but am changing it to the noon hour," wrote a Chicago mother whose son is at Camp Lee Va.

"God bless you for the noble act of calling on the people for peace," said a communication from a St. Louis clergyman. "I intend to make a personal appeal to the mayor of St. Louis to follow your example."

"We want peace to come to the world but not through appeasement," Mayor Vinson asserted. "The offenders must be crushed. It is for this peace that we pray."

The idea originated several weeks ago with the 52-member Meridian Pilot club, composed of business women of all faiths. They brought it to Mayor Vinson, who promptly issued an official appeal for fellow townsmen to observe the noon day prayers wherever they are or whatever they may be doing.

Every noon since then, Davie Smith, fireman at the city water works plant, has sounded a shrill siren atop the plant and Meridian pauses.

URNS TO VERSE WHEN NEWS WORSE

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The sympathies of rural news gatherers the nation over are with the Oakville correspondent who sent the following report to the Waterbury American yesterday as his daily stint:

"Oakville—There can be a heap of griefs, while the hair is growing gray, for a lot of suffering sinners that one passes on the way, but the heartiest sigh is deepest and the saddest tear is shed for the village correspondent when the village news is dead."

"When no one throws a party, and no one wrecks a bus; and no one gets arrested for stirring up a fuss; when no one starts a fire, and no one weeds or woos—ah! The village correspondent when there isn't any news."

An enchanted headline writer on the American topped the story off with "When Times Are Dull And News Is Worse, The Village Scribbles To Verse," and sent it along to the composing room.

CITY PAYS WHEN FIRE PLUG HIT

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A Little Rock motorist, backing into a parking space downtown, ripped the fender from his car on a fire hydrant.

The irate driver told officials at police headquarters that the plug was improperly set, too close to the curb, and demanded that the city pay for the damage to his car.

Surprised officials looked at the hydrant, agreed with the driver and granted his request. They also plan to re-set the plug.

LIGHTNING KILLS MAN UNDER TREE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Standing under a tree waiting for the rain to stop, Joseph Crouch, 50, of Memphis, was killed by lightning last night about 12 miles from Holly Springs, Miss.

A timber contractor, Crouch operated a sawmill nearby and had stopped under the tree with a load of lumber.

Crouch was once northwest district superintendent for the Mississippi highway department. He formerly lived at Blue Mountain, Miss.

SAYS LAKE CHARLES PEOPLE HOSPITABLE

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Colonel Albert E. Henderson of Cleveland, commander of the 37th division's 112th engineering regiment commented that "people here are the most hospitable in the south." Here's why:

Third army soldiers are taken on fox-hunting trips by residents; boat owners are lending boats to the soldiers; at the park golf course soldiers play for half price, and men in uniforms get free bus rides from their bivouac areas to town.

LIQUIDATION BOARD SESSION IS CALLED

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The state board of liquidation was called into session today to authorize a poll of the legislature for authority to borrow money for operations of several injunction-bound state departments.

This plan, which would allow the departments to continue functioning without requiring an immediate session of the legislature itself, will be laid before the board when it convenes late today, said State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell.

There was no advance announcement as to which departments would benefit, or what amounts would be sought.

However, the finance department and the supervisor of public funds have had their activities curtailed by orders of District Judge James D. Womack forbidding the board of liquidation on its own authority to transfer funds to departments in addition to the maximum appropriations set by the legislature.

As a result of these orders, Finance Director Martin Cloee said his department, which embodies the machinery for issuing welfare checks and paying warrants for several state hospitals, would have to cease functioning within a month.

Supervisor of Public Funds Jerome Hayes similarly was barred from continuing investigations begun with funds devoted to the now defunct crime commission.

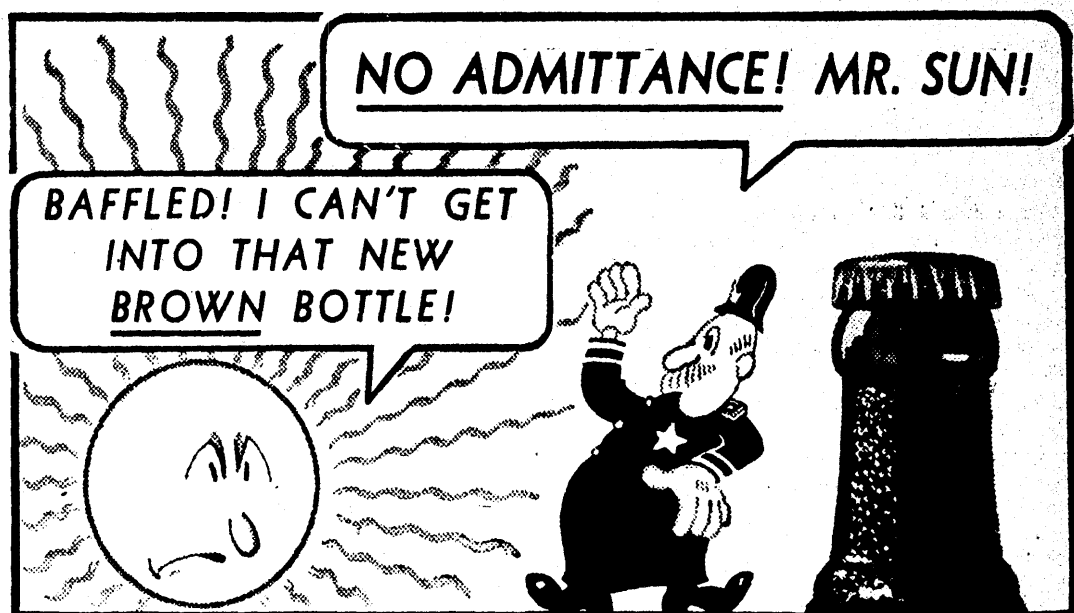

A poll of the legislature under the law may be carried out by letter without calling the lawmakers to Baton Rouge.

BRITISH SUPPLY COUNCIL CHIEF IS AMONG DEAD

The United States and Canada. They met their deaths as they were being taken back to the United States in a group so that they could fly more new planes back to Europe.

Purvis' death was announced by the air ministry, which did not identify the other victims.

Authorities would neither confirm nor deny a Montreal report that Captain Joseph Creighton Mackey, 31, of Kansas City, was one of the victims. Mackey was the lone survivor of a crash in Newfoundland last February that claimed the lives of Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, and two others.

A United States embassy official said he believed there were Americans on the plane, but none with official government connections.

SEE STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS FROM MEETING

The exact location of the rendezvous was still veiled by the vague description "somewhere in the north Atlantic," but photographs released by the White House last night disclosed that H. M. S. Prince of Wales and the U. S. S. Augusta had figured in the conferences.

Both are warships of reputation. The Prince of Wales, one of the newest battleships in the royal navy, was commissioned since the war and played a big role in the death of the Nazi dreadnaught Bismarck. The Augusta, a cruiser, was the flagship of the United States Asiatic squadron during the Sino-Japanese fighting there in the early thirties.

The White House pictures also disclosed the large number of high American and British officials who had gathered at sea for the unprecedented series of conferences.

For the United States there were Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state; General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations; Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the United States Atlantic fleet; Harry L. Hopkins, lease-lend administrator; W. Averell Harriman, who has been handling lease-lend matters in London; Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire; Brigadier General Edwin M. Watson, the president's military aide; and Captain John R. Beardsall, the president's naval aide.

The array of Britishers was equally impressive—General Sir John Gort, chief of the imperial staff; Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord; Beaverbrook, Sir William Freeman, vice-chief of the British air staff, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, British foreign undersecretary.

The presence of all these high-ranking officials was one reason which led to the conclusion here that some of the decisions taken during the consultations required a thorough canvass of the entire military and naval situation. It was also based on the possibility that informal staff talks might follow.

BANKRUPT RODESSA OIL REFINERY SOLD

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Brown-Strauss corporation of Kansas City, Mo., has purchased at bankruptcy sale the Cedar Grove refinery and real estate of the Rodessa Oil and Refining corporation, bankrupt, for $150,000 cash. The property includes the refinery and 80 acres of land on the site. The sale was made by H. E. Harper, trustee of the bankruptcy.

Isadore Brown, official of the purchasing firm, said that his company would be glad to cooperate with local and state agencies in a plan to reopen the plant for operation for a reasonable period.

annihilation of the enemy. We have but one task and that is victory. If the so-called democracies want Germany disarmed, let them come and get our arms."

All Germany and indeed all of Europe, these sources said, are interested in an answer by President Roosevelt to the following questions:

"1. Is there to be freedom of the seas for all nations large or small?"

"2. Are you ready to give up your military bases and raise your fortresses?"

"3. Will you give up your program of a two-ocean fleet?"

"4. Will you and Churchill renounce your monopoly on the raw materials of the earth?"

"5. Will you restore their colonies to the peoples of Europe who have the rightful title to them?"

"6. Do you propose to revalidate the Monroe Doctrine and do you recognize a Monroe Doctrine for others?"

"7. What are you prepared to do against the Bolshevik danger threatening Europe?"

"8. Are you prepared to put an end to the blockade war and to strangling economic measures?"

When asked whether the strictures on the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting were to be regarded as criticism of the eight-point program, the sources replied: "No, they are biting scorn."

To the suggestion of one American newspaper that Roosevelt should be president of the world and Churchill his prime minister, the sources growled: "We only can grumble."

In Washington, they claimed, "there's a hangover psychology" concerning the deep sea parley.

A foreign office mouthpiece said the joint declaration had disclosed "openly and brutally their desires for conquest."

The organ, the semi-official Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz, indicated the Reich was ready to meet with arms any attempt to fulfill those desires.

Branding as an "impudent lie" the assertion that the United States and Britain have no territorial aspirations, Korrespondenz declared:

"As in the World War, England now aspires to make foreign peoples subject to her which want to be free. As for Roosevelt's policy, it is an important part of his program to acquire bases in every corner of the world. The world can only thank the two scoundrels, Roosevelt and Churchill, that they have disclosed so openly and brutally their desires for omnipotence." Korrespondenz added.

Germany and her allies, it went on, are "fighting for the maintenance of the European culture which Bolshevism—supported by Churchill and Roosevelt—has threatened."

"However," Korrespondenz warned, "they also are ready to fight against everyone who, by methods of slaveowners, wants to rob and withhold from nations their greatest possession—to live and work in freedom."

Realization of the program enunciated by the British and American leaders, Korrespondenz declared, "would mean the end of freedom for all."

Referring to the proposal for disarmament of "aggressor nations," the publication said this would result in realization of "the dream of Anglo-Saxon world empire, with the help of bases in every corner of the world."

"The world can only thank the two scoundrels, Roosevelt and Churchill, that they have disclosed so openly and brutally their desires for omnipotence," Korrespondenz added.

Germany and her allies, it went on, are "fighting for the maintenance of the European culture which Bolshevism—supported by Churchill and Roosevelt—has threatened."

"However," Korrespondenz warned, "they also are ready to fight against everyone who, by methods of slaveowners, wants to rob and withhold from nations their greatest possession—to live and work in freedom."

DEATH THREAT PUT ON FRANCE

Russia's big Black Sea port, or the manufacturing city of Nikolae, 65 miles east.

London advices said there was some danger that Russian forces defending Odessa and Nikolae might be cut off by German troops advancing toward the industrial center of Dnepropetrovsk, at the great bend of the Dnieper river.

A Red army war bulletin, silent on the bloody struggle in the Ukraine, mentioned only that fierce all-night fighting raged in the sectors of Kakhovka, 75 miles north of Leningrad; Staraya Russia, about 140 miles south of Leningrad; and in Estonia, southwest of the old-time capital of the czar.

Italian military dispatches said Fascist forces entering the Crimea from the southern front had made their first contact with the Russians, encountering furious resistance.

The Germans claimed that all crossings of the Dnieper river, for several hundred miles south of Kiev were already in Nazi hands, but there was no detailed report of any crossing.

British observers estimated that the area reported overrun by German, Hungarian, Rumanian and Italian troops contained about 50 per cent of the Ukraine's heavy industries.

Adolf Hitler's high command reiterated yesterday's claims of big gains in the Ukraine and declared that "on other parts of the east front, fighting continued to be successful."

Meanwhile, Washington diplomatic circles speculated that joint Anglo-American action of a decisive nature was in the offing as a result of the Atlantic charter drawn up by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in their historic meeting at sea.

High-ranking figures attending the conference included Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations; and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the United States Atlantic fleet.

For Britain, there were General Sir John G. Dill, chief of the imperial staff; Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord; Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook, and others.

Dispatches from London said Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill were reported to be planning to send a communication to Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, proposing a meeting in Moscow between Stalin and his war chiefs and high British and American officials.

The reports said the meeting would discuss the following points:

1. Supplies to be sent to Russia by Britain and the United States.
2. The strategical position of the hard-pressed Red armies.
3. The situation of Soviet forces in Siberia, along the Manchukuo frontier where Japanese are reported to have massed upwards of 500,000 troops for a possible attack on Russia's "back door."
4. Russia's place in the post-war world, with agreement on spheres of influence and the future political ideology of western Europe.

In the war in the air, the British reported that more than 30 B. A. F. bombers blasted overnight at Hannover, Brunswick, Magdeburg, Rotterdam and Boulogne. The Germans said an attempt was also made to attack Berlin, but claimed that Nazi defenses repulsed the raiders.

As the R. A. F. pounded Germany's great cities, an ever-increasing food, British Food Minister Lord Woolton announced that Britain's "shadow larder," including 5,000,000 cans of various foods, was now ready. Woolton said Prime Minister Churchill had instructed him to have all emergency arrangements completed by September 1, the date Churchill has set as the zero hour for a possible Nazi invasion attempt.

The largest convoy to reach Malaya since the European war began landed thousands of Australian soldiers at Singapore, where they were dispatched immediately to defense posts. A British spokesman said the far eastern army was now considered sufficiently numerous and powerful to make any potential invader think 10 times before attempting to strike at British interests in the area.

men and the people. There are so many of these now that no man in the government has any idea of their total number. They have crept into the woodwork of the national capital during these last eight years and a bit, quietly, one by one, on the recommendation of this or that bureau chief and all of them. It goes without saying, are bread-and-butter Socialists, at least, and some true-believing collectivists.

It is not merely a question of numbers and of the gross aggregate expense of keeping them in jobs on salaries ranging as high as $10,000 a year. Equally interesting is the fact that they constitute a horde of tenacious and cunning parasites who have developed a remarkable skill in discovering quiet hiding places on the payroll and spotting new ones in advance when some developed instinct warns them that a new administrator is coming in, bringing his own apologies, or that an appropriation is about to be cut.

Like creatures of the wild, they have developed a protective coloration, which is to say, the appearance of statisticians, librarians and quiet geniuses and an art of disguise on the books whereby a disgruntled ex-journalist may be listed as an executive assistant or research secretary, whose job actually is to hallyhoo his chief and the general philosophy of the New Deal, whatever it is. Their recommendations are as various as their number is great, but the basic reason for hiring in each case is not one of public interest but the individual's desire for a tolerably easy and secure job involving only mild exertions.

An example for purposes of illustration is one who has been drawing $21 a day in the role of "consultant" on the books for writing departmental publicity releases but, admittedly, it is impossible even to guess how many there are when the term press agent is never used and euphemisms are.

It is my theory that if all the members of this corps of both genders were made to wear a distinctive uniform, not necessarily unattractive like that of orphans or paupers in an English town or gaudy like those of the station master and postman in pre-war continental Europe, congress and the people both would learn and view with a certain alarm a condition which today only the most cynical can suspect. About one person in four, in Washington, I believe, would prove to be a tub-thumper for some bureau or bureau and, thus identified, their appointments could be traced down and revealed as an item of pork or de luxe charity.

It seems unnecessary to predict the effect of this revelation on a legislative body which long has been deliberately deceived by so docile and harmless a body as the officers of the army, navy and marines.

SPECIAL TANK FUND APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

investigations of the defense program. In addition to approving the $6,838,436,000 bill, the Senate passed an amended House bill authorizing expenditure of $241,925,800 on naval public works. Among other construction, the latter bill will permit a start on a submarine base at Wake Island in the Pacific.

Both measures must go back to the House for action on Senate amendments. As it passed the House, the supplemental defense appropriation bill carried a total of $8,063,238,000. However, the Senate appropriations committee trimmed from it an item of $1,247,000,000 for purchase of reserve tanks, anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns, artillery and ammunition, and its action was sustained by the Senate. It was the first major cut in a requested army or navy appropriation since the emergency defense program was begun.

In the Old Testament of the Bible, nine persons with the name of Adijah are mentioned.

PEACHES ON YOUR CAKE

How would you like a large-sized wedge of fluffy cake... still warm from the oven... with sliced golden peaches, also warm and syrupy from the oven, nestling on the top? Doesn't it sound luscious for an August dessert? You can add a generous spoonful of fluffy whipped cream or pour rich thick plain cream over it.

We call this sunshiny-looking dessert Peach Batter Cake, and here is the recipe:

PEACH BATTER CAKE
7 or 8 medium-sized peaches 1 cup water
1 1/2 cups sugar Cake Batter

Peel, stone and slice the peaches. Arrange them in the bottom of a well buttered 8-inch square pan, at least 1 1/2 inches deep.

Sprinkle with sugar, then add the water. Bake or cook on top of the stove until the peaches are tender.

Pour the Cake Batter over the hot peaches and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

When the cake is done, turn it upside down on a serving plate. Serve it either hot or cold... with plain cream or whipped cream.

It will be much easier to measure the shortening if you pour the milk into your measuring cup... up to the 3/4 mark. Then add the shortening... keeping it under the milk all the time... until the milk reaches the mark which indicates "1 cup."

Sift the flour, sugar, salt and baking powder together in a mixing bowl. Add the shortening, milk, unbeaten egg and flavoring all at once. Beat all these ingredients together well with a rotary beater for 2 to 3 minutes.

Four quickly over the hot peaches and bake as directed.

A Good Oven Dinner Dessert
This is a perfect dessert to serve some night when you are having an oven dinner... such as Maryland Corn Pie and Baked Sweet Potatoes... or a Meat Loaf and Scalloped Potatoes... or a delicious meal-in-itself macaroni or spaghetti dish. They all require about the same oven temperature as this luscious peaches and cake dessert.

Veal Surprise

(Braising)
Buy Swift's Premium Veal Steak or Cutlets cut thin. Cut into strips 3 by 5 inches. One pound will yield about 3 pieces. On each, place a small carrot or 2 strips of carrot and 2 slices of onion. Wrap the veal around the vegetables and secure with toothpicks.

Dredge in flour. Brown in a little lard. Cover with water, evaporated milk, or tomato juice. Cover. Cook slowly 1 hour.

Variation: Use rice or bread dressing in place of vegetables as the filling.

Breaded Veal Chops: Buy Swift's Premium Loin, Rib or Shoulder Chops and cut 1-2-inch thick. Season. Dip in beaten egg, diluted with 1 tablespoon milk or water. Dip into sifted crumbs. Pan-fry slowly, using 2 tablespoons of lard. Brown well on both sides. Add 2 tablespoons of Godchaux brown sugar is also a new taste treat.

Preparing Cocoa: Beating cocoa with an egg beater will prevent scum from forming on the top. Cocoa cooked in the double boiler will not boil over and may be kept hot a long time.

Serving Suggestions: Serve hot with sliced lemon, tomato sauce or tart pickle relish.

Cooking

Peeling Potatoes—Instead of using a knife to peel new potatoes, rub the skin off with a new metal pot cleaner. They are just rough enough to rub off the outer skin without wasting the body of the potato.

Orange Pulp in Apple Sauce—If you want your apple sauce to be a little different, try this method: Make the sauce in the usual way. Add to the sauce a third as much orange pulp. Boil it for a few minutes. Sweeten with Godchaux granulated sugar.

Baking Apples—Prick apples with a fork before putting them into the oven to bake and the skins will not crack open in baking.

Sieve for Sugar—Shake Godchaux granulated sugar over doughnuts and cakes through a fine sieve so that it will fall lightly and evenly on them.

Making Meat Tender—A little vinegar cooked with coarse meat helps to make it tender or the meat may be dipped into vinegar before cooking.

"New" Cereal Idea—When tired of breakfast cereals, try cooking two or three kinds together. They will give a new flavor to the breakfast. Godchaux brown sugar is also a new taste treat.

Preparing Cocoa—Beating cocoa with an egg beater will prevent scum from forming on the top. Cocoa cooked in the double boiler will not boil over and may be kept hot a long time.

Cleaning Ceilings and High Walls. A bag of cotton flannel large enough to fit over the broom is the best article in the world to clean ceilings and high walls. As soon as it is the least bit soiled, it can be removed, washed and put back again.

Save Surplus Garden Foods For Home Defense

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

No food produced this summer and fall should be allowed to go to waste, warns the office of emergency management. In nearly every community, there are surpluses of fruits and vegetables which should be stored or canned, not only for individual family needs, but for the needs of everyone in the community as well.

Women who are eager to do something, should study these recommendations of the OEM:

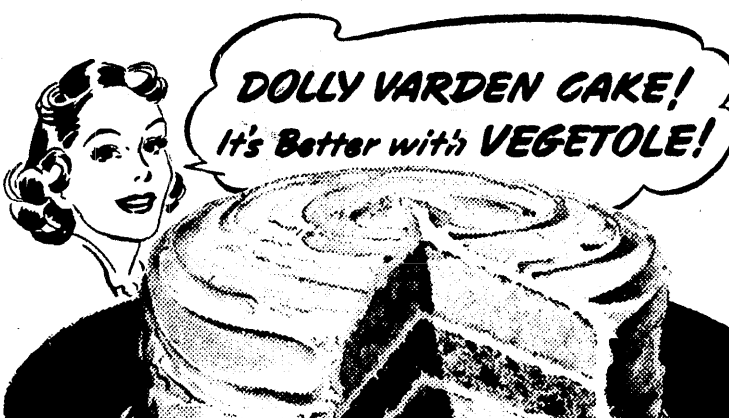

"Appraise community needs and distribute these surpluses, whether in fresh or preserved form, by such methods as school lunch and playground lunch programs, community kitchens for families in congested defense areas, or other ways of meeting the nutritional needs of families with small incomes.

"Appraise facilities and make necessary arrangements for collecting, storing, canning, drying or otherwise preserving, according to safe standards, such of these products as are not used in fresh form."

The demand this year for commercially canned goods will be greater than last year because of increased consumer buying power, army purchases, and shipments under the lend-lease program. If commercial supplies can be supplemented by non-commercial storage and preservation, it will help to meet consumer needs and will contribute toward price stability.

Non-commercial supplies are available in many localities. In addition to farmers' small surpluses not raised for the commercial market, there are products which are not utilized for commercial marketing or canning but are excellent food. After commercial picking, tomatoes and fruit such as apples, peaches and pears are frequently available if means can be found to gather and can them. Discretion should be exercised as to the nutritive value of food canned and emphasis should be placed on the foods of high nutritive value.

Has your community organized an agency composed of local members and some advising expert from the state ration committee? If not, why not call a group together and organizational defense today in your own community? The time is short.

For smoother batter, lighter, tender cakes—try Vegetole—the only shortening that's Texturized! Creams in half the time! Get it today.

RECIPE: Dolly Varden Cake

1/2 cup Vegetole 3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup sugar 3 cups sifted cake flour
1 cup milk 3 Cloverbloom egg yolks
1 tsp. salt 1/2 cup chopped raisins
1 tsp. cinnamon 1 1/2 tbls. molasses
1/4 tsp. each nutmeg and mace
1/4 tsp. cloves

Cream Vegetole, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, beat well. Add flour that has been sifted with baking powder and salt, alternately with milk. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add beaten egg whites. Fill 2 oiled layer cake pans with the batter, saving enough for a third layer. To this add the spices, raisins and molasses and pour into third pan. Bake 3 layers in 375° F. oven for 25 minutes. Frost with white icing, with spice layer in center.

New and different recipes on every Vegetole carton. Collect a complete set.

MAYOR WILLIAMS IS ENCOURAGED

Wires Kiwanians This Area May Get More Big Industries

A heartening message was received by the West Monroe Kiwanis club at the luncheon, Thursday noon, from Mayor Harry M. Williams, who is in Washington, D. C., conferring with government officials in order to emphasize advantages in the Twin Cities for defense industries. The wire was as follows: "Ouachita river above Sterlington, one of four locations favorable for generating plant. Alumina plant given serious consideration by office of production management. Methyl alcohol plant also under consideration. Making every possible contact to get our many advantages before officials. Regards to fellow Kiwanians."

Kiwanian C. K. Smith gave the principal talk, featuring conditions past, present and future, as they appear to him in the present World war No. 2. The club has enjoyed a good attendance record, stated Secretary E. S. Eby, it having averaged 90 per cent since last January 1. Kiwanians Thompson and Shafter, of the Monroe club, were guests at the luncheon.

PLANT CONTRACT IS ANNOUNCED

Management, Construction Of Ammonia Plant Provided For

Construction and management of a plant to manufacture anhydrous ammonia at the Dixie Ordnance works, Sterlington, was covered in a $9,250,000 contract with the Commercial Solvents corporation, New York City, awarded yesterday by the war department, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The contract provides for subcontracting the architectural-engineering and construction work, for training key personnel and for management of the plant by Commercial Solvents during production of a year's estimated output of ammonia.

Major Herbert M. Stoll, constructing quartermaster in charge of completing preliminary plans, said here last night he had not been officially notified of the contract with Commercial Solvents corporation.

Since the contract has been fulfilled, he said, it must be assumed that the contract provides for two separate subcontracts with the M. W. Kellogg company, Jersey City, N. J., for engineering designs and construction work.

Representative Newt V. Mills, who returned to Monroe yesterday from Washington, informed the Morning World he had received word from Washington that the contract had been awarded.

Engineers of the M. W. Kellogg company and a representative from the Commercial Solvents corporation were in Monroe Wednesday and later inspected the site for the ammonia plant at Sterlington, Major Stoll, who accompanied the group, said.

The plant will be owned by the government. Anhydrous ammonia, made by nitrogen fixation processes, is used in the production of nitric acid, a principal component of high explosives.

COLLEGE MAILING QUESTIONNAIRES

A total of 4,000 letters containing questionnaires are being mailed out this week from the office of the Northeast Junior college to high school graduates of the classes of 1940 and 1941 in which they are asked to give expression as to the vocational courses that are desired.

Dean C. C. Colvert, of the college, said that there are 50 or 70 vocations open to men and women and that it is the desire of the local college to ascertain just what is desired in the course of instruction by young men and women of this section of the state.

If certain vocational courses are required in sufficient numbers it is probable that these may be instituted here as soon as possible.

TWO BOYS REPORTED ESCAPED FROM L. T. I.

Two 17-year-old boys, Paul Cooke and Frank Boone, escaped from Louisiana Training institute Thursday afternoon, it was announced Friday by Monroe police.

Cooke was said to be six feet tall, weighing 158 pounds, with fair complexion and blue eyes. Boone was described as five feet eight inches tall, weighing 131 pounds and with tan complexion.

Russia is the chief source of manganese imports for the United States.

ENLISTMENTS

Morris David Bush, Chatham. Arnold Preston Hicks, Ferriday. Roy William Milam, Jr., Frierson. Henry F. Vickers, Jr., Monroe.

Fifteen additional vacancies were recently added to the quota of the local office for the month of August. These vacancies are for white youths, between 17 and 30 years. Applicants may enlist in the regular corps for periods of four years or they may join the volunteer marine corps reserve for the duration of the national emergency. Full particulars are available at the local marine office in the Monroe postoffice building.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE SPEAKS AT BASTROP

The place of the Boy Scouts in national defense was discussed by Olan H. Black, scout executive of the Ouachita Valley council, in a talk before the Bastrop Kiwanis club Friday at noon.

Mr. Black discussed the expansion of the scouting program in Morehouse parish. He also conferred with various scout officials while in Bastrop.

SWIMMING POOL TO BE CLOSED MONDAY

The municipal swimming pool will be closed all day Monday and until Tuesday at noon for cleaning. C. R. Tidwell, commissioner of streets and parks, announced Friday.

The pool will open again Tuesday afternoon.

OPM officials put military needs for aluminum at 1,600,000,000 pounds in 1942.

MONROE PLANS ON BIG MAILS

Fully 200,000 Army Men Will Be Served From Office Here

Naming of the Monroe postoffice as the base postoffice for the 2nd army during the holding of the maneuvers will tax facilities of the local institution to the utmost, but whatever it takes will be served out to the public, stated J. R. Wooten, postmaster, Friday. The postmaster expects that the Monroe office and sub-stations will handle as much as 100,000 pieces of mail each day during the six weeks of maneuvers, which is based as conservative for an army of 200,000 men.

Ten sub-stations will be located and fully equipped but their locations are not revealed as yet by the government. Extra help in the postoffice here and at sub-stations will be provided, upwards of 25 extras being thus employed.

The basepost office of the Monroe postoffice will be utilized as will every possible extra space in the building.

Robert Ellington, assistant postmaster, visited Alexandria recently to observe how a vast volume of soldiers' mail is handled there. The Alexandria postoffice is said to have had its volume of business tripled and in some cases quadrupled, through the location of army camps nearby.

Unofficially it was stated that more than $80,000 in money orders were issued there on paydays at army posts, and that extra clerks were put on in large numbers and that the postal staff was worked long over time to care for the influx of business.

At the Monroe office it is said that the usual two-week vacations will be cut to one week this summer and that some clerks will forego their vacations in order to aid in the emergency.

Postal inspectors have been in Monroe for some days and are aiding with the formulation of plans to meet the situation and it was stated Friday that it is expected that first class service will be accorded.

DR. GOWANLOCH CLUB SPEAKER

Tell Rotarians Plans Of State Department For Fish Conservation

Dr. James N. Gowanloch, biologist of the department of conservation, was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Monroe Rotary club, Hotel Virginia, Thursday noon. Introduced by Rotarian John S. Fox, who is also president of the local unit of the Sportmen's League, Mr. Gowanloch stressed the value to the community and state of fish conservation.

The day's program was in charge of the community service committee, headed by Mr. Fox. This group is the medium of the club for the support of civic, educational, philanthropic and other organizations. In accord with this aim, the Rotary club donated $300 to the fund to purchase an iron lung for the local Charity hospital. Mr. Gowanloch, in his talk, explained plans for his department for the year which are: first, fish registration; second, gear control; and third, control of water hyacinths.

T. O. Bancroft, local business man and lover of outdoor sports, talked on "Twenty Dollar Bass." He told that records in Maine, Wisconsin, Florida and other states show receipt of many million dollars annually from out-of-state visitors who are attracted by fish and game possibilities. He said if such a program were adopted and enforced by law here, a revenue of millions of dollars would be received in Louisiana thereby, which could easily be ascertained at the value of "twenty dollar bass" for each member of the fishy tribe secured.

President Ronald Lee Davis introduced visiting Rotarians Charlie Zimmerman, Houston, Texas; John C. Thomas, El Dorado, Kansas; and Lieutenant Warren Taylor, who is home on leave from the United States navy. A note of thanks for Rotary's donation to the 4-H clubs was read. Birthday greetings were presented to Bill Moss, Harry Frazer, Ed Dawson and Jack Boyer.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have told the world what is to be looked for when the axis has been beaten, that is, they have spoken in terms of an allied victory.

Assuredly no one could expect them to take any other attitude. You don't go around saying your side is likely to lose, and anyway there is no doubt that both these leaders do believe the allies are on the road to triumph.

However, this impels us to ask whether fate actually has put the brand of defeat on Hitler's brow already or whether in fact he still has a chance to win. It's necessary for us to check often to make sure that we don't get a top-sided view of the war.

This is particularly true at the moment because the sturdy Russian resistance to the Nazi invasion, and the great slackening off in the German aerial assaults on the British isles, have lulled many opponents of the axis into a feeling of a security which doesn't in fact exist. Even in England this attitude has become so pronounced as to cause the government anxiety.

So far as this column is concerned, it has recorded many times that the allies had good reason to hope that they would win. I see no reason to alter that view now, especially since the allied position would seem to me to have improved steadily.

Still, he would be a very slack war analyst who didn't state clearly that while the allies do indeed have a chance to win, they also have a chance to lose. Nobody has this war in a sack yet, or if he has, the mouth of the bag hasn't been closed.

Much depends on what happens during the next few weeks of the Russo-Nazi conflict. As you know, Herr Hitler is doing a headlong race with the Russian winter. If he doesn't win before the icy blasts begin to sweep the Steppes, the chances will be against his defeating the Bolsheviks decisively at all.

The fuhrer's progress from now on will be increasingly difficult because of the pre-winter weather. The rains start early in the Ukraine, and already we have a Berlin report saying that it's raining again there and that this may mean a slowing down of Nazi action. The invaders can expect that over much of the country the bad weather won't break for another couple of months.

Two months is in all conscience a mere flicker of time in which to defeat the Red giant. Still, Hitler might achieve a knockout victory if he got the breaks.

Luck will have to be with him all the way, however, for success means the utter shattering of the Soviet army and government, so that the Muscovite resistance cannot continue and his conquest will be complete. That's a tall order for the Nazi chief to carry out, but he has done the hat trick more than once and might do it again. Certainly his war-machine seems to be rolling with much speed into the Ukraine.

The Germans claim to have secured a strong grip on most of the great and rich area lying between the Dniester and Dnieper rivers south of Kiev. The naval bases of Odessa and Nikolaev, with their vastly important industries, are virtually in a state of siege. The Nazis claim the capture of Kriwoli Rog, center of one of the richest iron mining areas in the world.

This creates a grave situation for the Reds in that strategic area. Further progress of the invaders, however, pivots not so much on the territory which they have captured, or on the industrial cities which they may take, as upon whether Soviet Marshal Budennyi has been able to withdraw his troops in order and without heavy loss to new positions.

The Germans declare that much of Budennyi's army is surrounded and in danger of annihilation. The Muscovites deny this, and in fact the Nazis have admitted that the marshal still has enough free troops to make a fight.

Even if Budennyi isn't able to protect such key positions as Odessa, he still can wreck the Nazi program if he is able to avoid encirclement and pull his troops back to fresh defensive positions. This, of course, envisages the continuance of his contact with the Russian forces on his right, and the maintenance of the Red line as a whole.

INJURED YOUTHS ARE 'DOING WELL'

Injured yesterday by automobiles in separate accidents Warren Eberts, 7, and Mike Bee, 14-year-old newsmen of the News-Star-World, were both "doing well" Friday, attending physicians reported. Young Eberts was removed to his home Friday afternoon.

Eberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Eberts, 369 Richmond street, sustained a fractured right shoulder, according to physicians at Riverside sanitarium, when he ran into the side of an automobile driven by T. E. Boyette, 308 Layton street, police said. The boy's skull was not fractured, as it was believed after the first examination, physicians said.

The accident occurred in the morning in the 3600 block of Lee avenue, police said, where young Eberts attempted to run across the street.

The newboy, 14-year-old Mike Bee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bee, 700 Oak street, was knocked unconscious from his bicycle on Hammond and Hall streets early in the afternoon by R. D. Hebert, route 4, Baucomville, who ran a stop sign in a local dairy truck, police disclosed.

Preliminary examinations at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic revealed a right leg injury, the attending physician said. Hebert posted a $5 bond for reckless driving, according to police.

ARMY LEASES HOUSE FOR CORPS OFFICES

Headquarters offices for the Second Army quartermaster corps, which will be stationed here during the entire maneuvers, will be located at 800 Riverside drive, Major Neils I. Poulsen, in charge of army rentals in this parish, announced Friday.

The army has leased the residence at that address, which is owned by Mrs. Eugene Flournoy.

Quartermaster corps officials will occupy the building until October 15, it was said.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE

A fire caused by throwing a lighted cigarette in a trash can damaged a house at 408 Newman street early last night, Fire Chief Frank Roddy reported, adding that the fire was investigated and the damage not considered heavy.

PUBLIC TO SEE PRIEST FRIARY

Franciscan Rectory, West Monroe, Constructed At Cost Of $12,000

The new $12,000 Franciscan rectory on North Seventh street, West Monroe, will be open for public inspection from 2 p.m. Sunday until dark, the Rev. Henry Freiburg, O. F. M., pastor of St. Paschal's Catholic church, announced today.

Operations on the rectory properly called a friary, have been going on for the past several months in the construction of a building which will serve, Father Henry said, as the permanent headquarters for the Franciscan priests working in this locality.

The building was planned by H. H. Land, Monroe, who incorporated the necessary monastic arrangements into the plan. It has six living rooms or cells on the second floor, besides a large common or recreation room, screened porch and bath. One of the bedrooms will serve as a guest room for visiting clergy and is equipped with private bath.

Downstairs there are three offices, two to the right of the main entrance, and one, the pastor's office, to the left. In the interior part of the first floor there is the dining room, kitchen, laundry, and furnace room, besides a sewing room, wardrobe. At one end of the building is the large reception room. The contractors for the building were Salley and Ellis, Monroe.

The exterior of the building is white asbestos siding in sharp contrast to the black asbestos shingle roof. The interiors are mostly done in insulating paneling and squares. Two of the rooms are finished in knotty pine. Although the building was erected in a shallow part of the property, extensive fill-in has now produced the impression that the building is on a slight elevation. It will be practically impossible for water or dampness to settle under or near the building.

There are at present six Franciscans working in this locality who will consider the new building their headquarters. Father Henry, pastor of St. Paschal's and superior of the local community; Fr. Anselm Beckman, O. F. M., pastor of the Little Flower church, Monroe, and will be in charge of the new St. Charles church in West Monroe; Fr. Theophane Goett, O. F. M., a young priest who has just finished his seminary work, will be Fr. Anselm's assistant; Fr. Jasper Marcus, O. F. M., is chaplain of St. Francis sanitarium; Fr. Walfrid Boesche, O. F. M., is in charge of the Bastrop and Rayville churches; Fr. Humilis Soiland, O. F. M., is in charge of the Ruston area.

All of these men belong to the St. Louis Province of Franciscans. The Franciscans in the St. Louis province have more than 40 friaries in 13 of the middle western states. There are more than five hundred men in this province. There are six provinces of Franciscans in this country.

After the local Franciscans move into their new home, which will be some time next week, the upstairs of the friary will be closed to all lay people. This is what is known as the cloister or enclosure and is observed in all of the older religious orders. The Franciscan order was founded in 1209 by St. Francis of Assisi. It is spread throughout the world.

CUNNINGHAM SENT TO LAKE CHARLES

Lieutenant Colonel William A. Cunningham, formerly stationed here as district supervisor in charge of maneuver agreements and army rentals for nine parishes in this area, has been assigned to Lake Charles, where he will be claims supervisor for the Third Army, it was announced Friday.

Major Neils I. Poulsen, in charge of army rentals in this parish, was reassigned to his position in Monroe, where he will remain until October 1.

YANKS ADD ANOTHER FULL GAME TO LEAGUE LEAD

WALLOP NATS 7-0 AND 10-3 IN DOUBLE BILL

Victories Give New York
15½-Tilt Advantage
In American

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The musical comedy currently occupying the stage of the National league theater has taken the spotlight away from the New York Yankees and the rest of the American league during the past couple weeks.

But between acts, as it were, in the show starring the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers, it has been possible to discover that the Yankees are still alive and blasting.

They took advantage of the recent diversion of attention to a rest and relax just like ordinary folks do during the heat of August. In the stretch from August 5 to 12, inclusive, they lost eight games and won seven. Even with this inept play, they extended their first-place margin from 12 to 14½ games.

Yesterday, while the Dodgers and Cardinals had an open date and people throughout the country were looking, the Yankees buckled down to duty again and walloped the Washington Senators in a double header, 7-0 and 10-3, to add another full game to their lead.

Lefty Marius Russo pitched three-hit ball for the shutout and Atley Donald followed with a six-hitter. Charley Keller smacked his 29th homer and drove in five runs. Joe DiMaggio made four hits, including two triples, and batted in four runs.

Tom Henrich homered in the opener and Johnny Sturm shook up the nightcap with a home run, a triple and a single.

The Cleveland Indians, meanwhile, battled 10 innings to a 3-3 tie with the last-place St. Louis Browns. The game was delayed an hour and 20 minutes in the middle by rain and Bob Feller was called into work after the storm, but even his presence couldn't bring victory.

The third-place Boston Red Sox divided a battling practice double header with the Philadelphia Athletics. The two teams totaled 62 hits, including six home runs, two triples and 10 doubles, off 11 pitchers.

Jimmie Foxx returned to action and won the first outgo to Boston, 11-8, with a three-run homer in the eighth inning. Ted Williams had hit his 23rd of the season with two on in the eighth to help tie the score. Foxx also homered in the second tilt and Bobby Doerr connected for two, but the A's won anyway, 10-8, with two four-run rallies.

The Chicago White Sox swept their double header from the Detroit Tigers 3-1 and 3-0, in a pair of fine pitching duels. Lefty Thornton Lee captured his 15th victory in the first game and pitched shutout ball after the first inning. Johnny Humphries held the Tigers to six hits in the nightcap while the Sox made eight.

Only two games were played in the National league.

The Chicago Cubs sent the Pittsburgh Pirates staggering to their fourth straight defeat, 6-2, and put the Buccaneers in jeopardy of losing their first place. The Cubs won 6-2 in a three-run homer in the second inning and Claude Passeau kept the Pirates subdued on eight hits and scoreless after the fourth frame.

Fiddler Bill McGee, the former Cardinal worthy who had made 15 appearances in the win column as a New York beat the Boston Braves, 4-3. McGee allowed only seven hits, but let Boston bunch five of them in the second and third innings to score their runs. Two unearned tallies off Johnny Hutchins in the third provided the Terrymen with their margin of victory.

GRID SUBS TO GET
BREAKS THIS YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—(P)—These unloving heroes of college football—the scrubs who usually need some rosin to keep from sliding off the bench—are going to get a break this fall in the opinion of Ray Morrison, Temple university grid coach.

Because of the selective service act, Morrison, who came to Temple last year from Vanderbilt, believes coaches all over the country are going to appreciate the boys who usually take plenty of bumps in scrimmage during the week, but are only a couple of guys in uniform during the game.

"I am looking forward to just as great a football season as was enjoyed in 1939 and 1940," the coaches say. "The boys who usually take the bumps are going to get a break. They are going to turn out a product that will be just as good as ever. I coached at Vanderbilt during the last World war and can appreciate the problems facing the coaches today."

Morrison, creator of the famed aerial circus while coach at Southern Methodist, thinks Temple will have a good team, although six men he had counted upon now are in the army.

Squad, 2-6

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15.—(P)—Chicago handed Pittsburgh its fourth straight losing Thursday in a 6 to 2 game that saw four Pirate pitchers fail to silence the Cubs' busy bats.

Clyde McCullough's home run—his seventh with two aboard in the second inning—gave Max Butcher from the mound and put the Cubs too far ahead for the Pirates to catch up.

The Cubs' Claude Passeau won his 11th game, holding the Pirates to eight hits. It was his first appearance since July 28 when he injured a rib sliding into second base.

Drastic Reconstruction Measures Due In Majors

Most Of Big League Clubs Set
For Biggest Houseclean-
ing In Decade

By Judson Bailey
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(P)—All that is holding up the greatest wave of reconstruction the major leagues have seen in a decade is the calendar.

Until the end of this month the clubs are limited to 25 players, but before the season ends, many of these plan to shelve their famous stars and rebuild from top to bottom for the 1942 campaign.

Only the New York Yankees, the Philadelphia Athletics (surprise!), the St. Louis Cardinals, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates are immune from the big scale overhauls.

Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, hardly can wait to clean house according to reports. His general manager, Cy Slapnicka, has been scouring the minors and those of the Triple's veterans who might be traded are slated for outright release.

Roy Weatherly, Mel Harder and Gerald Walker are three who are fairly certain to get their walking papers.

The Detroit Tigers have been working methodically toward a younger lineup ever since they let Dick Bartell go early in the season. Charley Gehring, the greatest second baseman of his era, is through and Tommy Bridges probably will slide out with him.

Tom Yawkey is in the same mood about his Boston Red Sox and Jimmie Foxx, one of the best hitters and all-around players in baseball's modern era, may be among those who have to go.

The lesser American league clubs will pick up the pieces. Connie Mack wants pitchers for his Athletics, but otherwise is satisfied. The Chicago White Sox need outfield help and the Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns will take anything they can get.

One of the Washington changes may be the manager. Clark Griffith already has conferred with Harold (Muddy) Ruehl, coach for the White Sox but who has been in charge of the Senators since they left the city.

Warren Giles, general manager of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, wanted to make some radical changes when the weakness of the Reds became apparent in June, but was persuaded to wait until after the season. Manager Bill McKechnie, who thought his boys would pull it off.

Catcher Ernie Lombardi, several pitchers and outfielders are on the block.

The Chicago Cubs will try to replace at least half their roster. They include pitchers Bill Lee, Larry French and Charley Root and outfielder Hank Lieber.

The New York Giants are ready to let go of everybody except Babe Ruth and Johnny Rucker. The club has been in the market for a long time and hopes to acquire talent through trading.

Manager Doc Prothro recently decided his last place Phillies couldn't be any worse without him and left the club to his own devices while he sought the bushes for help.

The Boston Braves need infield and catching assistance and may trade discontented Max West to get some of it.

Catcher Babe Phelps, in absence of the Dodgers, is on the market, and, of course, and some others may be if the club falters in the present stretch drive.

CLARKS STARTS
GRID PRACTICE
Lumberjacks Have Hopes
Of Repeating Success
Of Last Season

CLARKS, La., Aug. 15.—(Special)—With hopes of repeating last year's performance of 1939 when they won the north Louisiana Class B championship, the Clarks High School Lumberjacks this week answered the call of Coach Dudley Fulton to begin training for their 1941 campaign.

Coach Fulton is beginning his third season with the Clarks and if this year's crop measures up to past records of Fulton teams Clarks can be counted on to make the Class B race this year an interesting one.

A matter of two points kept the locals out of the conference championship playoffs last year. They were beaten in only one Class B encounter, losing to the Lake Providence Panthers, 2 to 0, and thus missing their second straight year in the title games.

The Lumberjacks open the season on September 12 with the Friday night game at Lake Providence. The Bulldogs, one of the strongest eleven in the northeast district, last fall the Bulldogs battled the locals to a tie but the Clarks won on first downs.

Despite damaging losses through graduation, Coach Fulton has several good prospects to fill the gaps and at least four full teams will be on hand for tryouts.

Among the outstanding prospects are Seney Ferguson, weigh 160, and Wallace Rottwell, 170; Ronald Richmond, 120; Billie Reitzell, 185, and Tillman Seay, 265, tackles; H. Brown, 120; E. Brown, 130, and Martin, 110, guards; "Red" Estes, 155, and Eason, 175, centers; and Cason, 170; Cobb, 145, 160, and DePrie, 165, backs.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
By Associated Press
HARRISBURG, Pa.—Rocky Luciano, 125, Harrisburg, Pa., knocked out Johnny Tumocky, 155, Philadelphia, 13.

NEW YORK—Maxie Shapiro, 135, New York, outpointed Leo Rodak, 133 1-2, Chicago (10).

WATERBURY, Conn.—Manuel Villa, 112, Mexico, outpointed Benny Montalban, 145, Birmingham, Ala. (8).

FITCHBURG, Mass.—Howell King, 145, Detroit, knocked out Buster Carroll, 145, Lowell, Mass. (9).

SOX TRIUMPH FOR SEVENTH WIN IN ROW

Monroe Beats Bathers,
5-1, To Run Lead To Four Games

While Ray Hoffman, veteran Monroe right-hander, was evening the score with Charlie Pescod, Hot Springs pitcher who bested him in a mound duel at the Spa City recently, the Sox were regularly scheduled with the Oiler but a postponed game will be made up in a double header Sunday.

Manager Mike Powers of the Hot Springs Bathers will shoot another left-hander, Jodie Howington, at the White Sox tonight in an attempt to take the third and final game of their current series here. The game will begin at 8 o'clock at Casino Park.

Either Charles "Major" Bowler, a right-hander, or Jim Hogan, a pitcher, will take the mound for the locals, Manager Doug Taitt announced.

The El Dorado Oilers, who have enabled the locals to increase their league lead the past two days by dividing a pair of double headers with Vicksburg, will invade Casino Park tomorrow for a four-game series. Only three games are regularly scheduled with the Oilers but a postponed game will be made up in a double header Sunday.

Manager Felt also reported last night that he was planning to conduct a baseball school for any prospective diamond talent in the area of the state and the Cotton States season. Complete plans for the school will be announced later, he said.

White Sox won their recent straight victory over the Bathers last night, 5 to 1, boosted their current string of triumphs to seven and took a four-game lead in the Cotton States pennant race as Vicksburg split a twin bill with El Dorado.

Hoffman, hanging up his 12th victory of the season, and Felt, in his last six starts, shut out the Bathers for eight innings and allowed only four hits, but the Sox got to hire for a base on balls and two singles in the ninth to score their only run.

The Sox backed Hoffman's hurling with an 11-hit attack and some excellent fielding. Ernie Potocar, Pete Medak, "Red" Pruitt and Dave Philley sparked the offensive with two hits each with Potocar and Philley each driving in two runs.

The White Sox took the lead in the first inning when Jimmy Keur walked, went to second as Englehorn grounded out and scored on Philley's single. Keith also scored the second run in the third frame after singling into left field, going all the way to third on a passed ball and coming home when Pawelek threw wild to third in an attempt to stop Keith at that base.

Two more runs scored in the fourth before any were out. Medk singled and went to third on Pruitt's double. A single by Potocar scored both runners. The final Monroe run crossed the plate in the seventh when Joe Eagan doubled into left field, went to third on Englehorn's out and scored on a single by Philley.

The Bathers' lone run was scored in the ninth but one of the numerous bugs that fly around under the lights probably saved the Sox from being shut out. With one out, Manager Mike Powers walked and went to second on Bob Duncan's single. Ed Rockey lined a grass cutter toward Pruitt at third, but a bug got into Pruitt's eye as he attempted to field the ball and it went for a single into left field, loading the bases. Reggie forced Rockey at second, but Powers forced to lead off the game.

Don't Take Our Word For This...

Phone, Write or Go See Cox and Frazer, Certified Public Accountants of Monroe, Whose Offices Are in the Ouachita Bank Building, for VERIFICATION!

● HERE'S THE LETTER that was sent by Cox and Frazer, auditors, in conducting an UNBIASED survey to determine WHAT advertising media influenced local people in doing their buying. The card on the right was enclosed with this letter.

COX AND FRAZER
ACCOUNTANTS AND TAX CONSULTANTS
OUACHITA NATIONAL BANK BUILDING
MONROE, LOUISIANA

August 6, 1941.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doe,
Monroe, Louisiana

Dear Sir and Madam:

We will appreciate your help in making an "Advertising Survey" for one of our clients. Your name will be kept in strict confidence. Your answers to these questions will not be seen by anyone outside of our office.

We want either or both of you to fill out the enclosed card carefully; express your honest and sincere opinion.

Question No. 1--What type of advertising INFLUENCES you MOST in doing your BUYING? Do you shop at your grocery store or department store, etc., after reading the newspaper, or after receiving a circular in advertisement, or after getting a circular in your door, or after seeing the movie advertisement, or after listening to a radio sales talk, or after driving by a billboard or after reading a magazine?

Question No. 2--What type of advertising do you find objectionable? Do you dislike having circulars left in your yard or door? Do you hate to sit through screen advertising? Do you object to newspaper ads? Do you dislike having the radio musical program halt for the announcer to make a sales talk? Do you object to billboards on the highway? Do you dislike magazine advertising?

Thanking you for your co-operation, we remain,

Very truly yours,

COX AND FRAZER

● This survey WAS NOT compiled by the News-Star—World Publishing Corporation, but by Cox and Frazer, Monroe auditing firm, and the letter and card, reproduced below, show that those who answered this survey were not in any way influenced in their answers.

● HERE'S THE CARD THAT WAS SENT OUT WITH THE LETTER!

ADVERTISING SURVEY

Please check your answers to the questions below and mail this card today. You are positively under no obligation and no further solicitation will follow this questionnaire. Your answers will be kept in strict confidence.

QUESTION No. 1

Please list in the order of your preference, 1st, 2nd, etc., types of advertising which INFLUENCE you MOST in doing your BUYING.

QUESTION No. 2

Which of the following types of advertising are OBJECTIONABLE? Write "yes" where advertising IS objectionable and "no" where NOT objectionable.

	Daily Newspapers
	Direct Mail
	Circulars
	Theater Screens
	Radio
	Billboards
	Magazines

● The answers to the questions asked in this survey were UNBIASED and TRUTHFUL on the part of the public, because they did not know who the survey was being conducted for, and the system used by Cox and Frazer in sending out the letters was absolutely fair and impartial to all advertising media. Therefore, the wise merchant will profit by using the results of this survey in buying his advertising media.

This advertising survey proved beyond a doubt that DAILY NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING, or The Monroe News-Star and Monroe Morning World, influences more than three times as many local people in doing their buying as ALL OTHER advertising media COMBINED!

This survey also proved beyond a doubt that the advertising appearing in The Monroe News-Star and Monroe Morning World IS NOT objectionable, and that advertising that is FORCED on the public IS OBJECTIONABLE!

Twenty-two thousand three hundred and thirty-one families in Monroe trading area spend many thousands of dollars each year to get the merchants' advertising offerings and to get the latest news and features The Monroe News-Star and Monroe Morning World have to offer.

Most of the other advertising media are free or FORCED on the public and this survey proves conclusively that they DO NOT influence the public in doing their buying!
